

The average time needed to load one batch of images for different number of load workers (float, batch = 7)

